A TRIBUTE TO PAT O'NEIL

Pat with siblings and their spouses

Sean, Pat, Mary and Patrick

Patrick A. O'Neil was born on August 24, 1946 to Mary and Art. He passed away on February 11, 2008. Pat was a member of the third generation of O'Neils involved in the management of the O'Neil Family of Companies.

He was born and raised in Evanston, IL where he grew up with sister's Mary, Ann and brother Bill. The family moved to Palatine in 1962 where Pat graduated from Fremd High School's first graduating class. After high school he attended Parsons College working summers for O'Neil in jobs from laboring to oiling on a crane. He held various positions in the company from Internal Auditor, Manager of Accounting, President of O'Neil Development Corp and Vice President of National Marketing. Pat was also the President of the O'Neil Foundation, a family charitable trust.

In the midst of his career he met, fell in love with and married Mary Brockmann. Together they raised two sons, Patrick, a recent graduate of Regis University, and Sean who will be enrolling in the University of Dayton as a freshman this Fall.

Pat was involved in numerous not-for-profit and charitable organizations and was very caring for those less fortunate than he. He enjoyed sailing, fishing with his sons, golf, travel and attending collegiate and professional sports. But most of all, Pat cared about people. He was a kind, gentle generous man. The fond memories of Pat live on.

CHICAGO'S NEW

MANAGEMENT CHANGE

Michael J. Faron has been appointed Chairman. Mike joined W.E.O'Neil Construction in 1973 and worked his way through the organization becoming President in 1989. Mike's promotion will allow him to focus on Chicago's strategic direction, succession planning, and leadership development.

John A. Russell has been appointed President. John has been with W.E.O'Neil Construction since 1982 becoming Executive V.P. in 2005. John will be responsible for day to day operations.

PHOENIX OFFICE COMPETES IN STUDENT COMPETITION

The 21st year of the Associated Schools of Construction (ASC) Student Competition and Construction Management Conference was held in Reno, NV early this year. Participating on one of the national teams from Arizona State University were Cooper Haskins and Miguel Rodriguez, both project engineers from the Phoenix office of W. E. O'Neil. Each team of eight members was given a problem and 24 hours to come up with and present a solution to a judging panel. Their efforts were rewarded with a first place finish in the competition for Building Information Modeling.

LEED ACCREDITED PROFESSIONALS

In an effort to grow our ranks of LEED accredited professionals in all of our offices and continue to foster the professional development of our staff, W.E. O'Neil Construction Co. of California has implemented a team based competition. Three teams comprised of seven employees each were selected and team leaders assigned. The leaders were challenged with developing training and support systems for their teams that would yield the most LEED accredited members in the shortest amount of time. So far, the competition has yielded five additional LEED accreditations.

MEET ALICIA SIMMONS

I arrived at T.L. Roof & Associates from the offices of a competing general contractor. I heard good things from subcontractors, suppliers and even other general contractors, but I was apprehensive of what awaited me. Any anxiety I felt before my "first day at work" at 710 South Campbell was unfounded. Let me explain a few of my reasons for feeling this way ...

T.L. Roof & Associates values their employees; they are forward-thinking and plan for the future; they realize that family is important; and finally everyone at T.L. Roof uses their values and morals to do things the right way. It's nice to finally be part of a company known for doing the right thing for the company and their employees.

WITH A NEW DIRECTOR

Joe Hanlin joined W.E.O'Neil's Colorado office as Director of Operations in early 2008. Joe comes from a large, local general contractor and he brings great depth and breadth of experience to our Colorado operation. Joe prides himself on his managerial, coaching and mentoring capabilities, we are already seeing his positive influence on existing procedures, and he looks forward to a long and successful career with W.E.O'Neil!
